GAMBLING DEN FOUND IN RAID BY THE POLICE

Premises at 114 North Third Street Raided by Police Wednesday Night; Gambling Equipment Found

FIVE MEN IN PLACE WHEN RAIDED BY CHIEF WEBBER

Raid Said to be First Action in Clean-up Drive to Stop Gambling Here

FIRST action in what is reported to be a contemplated clean-up of professional gambling in La Crosse was taken Wednesday night when the police raided a gambling house at 114 North Third street, one of the old-time historic homes of the Goddess of Luck in this community.

The raid was made on a county warrant secured by District Attorney Stanley Gordon.

A gambling house typical of the novel or movie variety was disclosed in the raid. The place was complete with gaming tables, pool tables and card tables for the concealment of the gambling equipment. A roulette table and wheel, a faro table, and three pool tables, with a complete stock of chips, cards, counters, and "kitty" box, were found in the place.

Find Roulette Wheel

The roulette wheel, which was not found when the room was first entered, was later located by the police when they found a trap door in the floor under the roulette table. A small place had been fitted for the wheel between the floor and the ceiling of the room below.

The police on the second floor and the first three steps on the stairs leading up from the street are equipped with an electric warning buzzer. A small hole in the door, covered by a slide, allows anyone on the inside to look over all comers before unlocking the door.

The raid was conducted under the personal direction of Chief of Police John Webber shortly after midnight Wednesday. The chief got the warrant Wednesday afternoon, and reached the building from ten o'clock Wednesday evening until it was raided. He was accompanied on the raid by Patrolmen Rick, Thompson and Bender.

Five Men Arrested

Five men were arrested in the place. Their names are being withheld.

A truck was pressed into service by the chief to move the gambling devices, tables and accessories to the central station.

The premises at 114 North Third street have been raided on several occasions by men from police headquarters and the sheriff's office, but Wednesday's raid is the first that uncovered anything.

MUTE LEFT WITH TOO "DUMB," HE SAID

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Lena Galland, defendant in a suit for husband and child, said today for absolute divorce, "I can't live with you, you can't take care of me, you are a dumb, she alleged to her lawyer."

Then he went to reside with Miss Hannah Verbeke, 68, another deaf mute.

HEAR MY PRAYER

Hear my prayer, O Lord, give ear to the words of my mouth—Psalm 115:1.

Your Side of It

YOUR lungs inhale an average of 2600 gallons of air a day, according to a medical authority. We told this to the garageman who has been overhauling our car. Being of a mechanical turn of mind, his comment was: "Gosh! The lungs must be a fine piece of machinery, to do that much work and keep from wearing out."

Another friend, a neurasthenic who's always worrying about his health, came back with: "I wonder how much of the 2600 gallons is pure air, and how much is coal smoke, auto fumes and disease germs?"

A happy-go-lucky chap answered: "Yes? Well, why worry about it unless the lungs' caretaker gets clogged up?"

A gloomy friend growled: "Keep it quiet or some corporation will corner the air supply and fasten meters on our noses."

Our final experimental subject yawned: "So? Who's going to win the series this year?"

The wide variety of responses interested us as showing the many types of humanity and how differently they react to events and situations. A bit of information starts traveling. As it reaches various people, each consciously or unconsciously applies it to his own life—measures it in terms of his character and personal psychology. Thus one person interprets everything in mechanical terms. Another weighs it as a great basic cause. Still another ferrets out of it a moral slant.

This is true of all news. For instance, a boom stock market suggests larger sales markets to the business man. The gambler begins wondering if he can tear off a piece of the plunder. A psychologist reflects that the rise in the market indicates a down-curve of the fear emotion. A moralist laments the gambling craze.

Each of us has a certain personal set of scales for weighing the information that comes to us. That is, we single out a certain angle of the situation that responds to our controlling interests. This is why people who see an event often think the newspaper has the "account of it" bailed up. The newspaper prints the facts, as they actually happened, as the reporter saw them. Not having exactly the same viewpoint as some readers, the reporter may overlook the incidents that impressed those readers most. And the readers, in turn, who were "on the job" failed to notice much of what actually happened, what the reporter saw.

To satisfy everybody, it would take 10,000 or more columns of a newspaper to report even a dog fight.

Fast

JURIES trying bootleggers are legally entitled to drink the evidence. So rules a deputy prosecuting attorney in Los Angeles. Higher powers will have something to say about that, but it makes good reading at the time.

Brookline, Mass., richest municipality of its size in the world, again votes to keep movie theaters out of town. The vote is 5634 against movies, 1659 for. You wonder what they do, in a town of that size, to kill time.

These two interesting items come from opposite ends of the continent. Yet they are available to newspaper readers all over the country within a few minutes after the actual events. Many now living can recall when it took weeks to carry the news that far. Human thought and action are broadcast quickly in our time. Fast communication is the greatest marvel of the twentieth century.

Loans

FEDERAL Reserve Bank officials "see danger" in the rapidly increasing credit demand—by which they mean the steady advance in the total amount of money borrowed by business organizations. When prices are rising and the buying power of the dollar accordingly shrinking, business has to have a larger volume of money to do even the former amount of business. Professor Fisher is right. We need a dollar stabilized by something like an elastic gold backing, to keep its buying power always at about the same level. Work out a way and you'll have the bullet that will kill or seriously wound Old Man Hard Times.

Hunting

THE British spend 200 million dollars a year on fox hunting, according to a book published in London. The author, G. W. Clark, comments that this is more than the interest Britain has to pay on her debt to America. The English are doing a lot of moaning about that debt, but the cost of hunting foxes is a painless form of extraction. Human nature. We Americans foam at the mouth when the cost of necessities advances even a trifle. When it comes to luxuries and amusement, we fling our money away gladly. The high cost of living is an outrage, but the cost of high living is usually satisfactory.

Predicted

AFTER they had locked the doors at the peace conference, an English delegate got up and suggested that Germany should pay about 30 billion dollars indemnity. A Frenchman erupted. His price was 120 billion dollars. The American delegates listened quietly, then said in effect: "It isn't what you want, but what you can get. Germany will pay five billions—possibly six—not more than seven." It is interesting that the latest German feeler offers to pay about six billions dollars reparations.

Destination

THE G. A. R. reports that its membership last year dwindled by 14,512, leaving only 71,106 of the Blue veterans alive. At that rate, it'll only be a few years until you'll see a picture of "the last G. A. R. man." Time slips by rapidly. Before we realize, the last survivor of the American Legion will be hobbling about with a cane. This life is merely a journey, and the means of transportation seems a lot faster than the airplane. Curious, how some of us act as if we'll be here always.

Postmen

NO AMERICAN fully realizes the enormous activities of the nation of which he is a member. It is beyond human imagination. We get a faint inkling of the tremendous extent of our machinery of civilization occasionally—as, for instance, in the announcement that it now requires 333,000 postmen to move our mails.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. Gregor Haufl, 1028 South Seventh street, are today celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. The ceremonies opened this morning at ten o'clock when Rev. J. R. Ristetter performed the golden wedding ceremony. More than a score of their children and grandchildren are here for the event. Mr. Haufl has been a butcher in La Crosse since 1881 when he came here from Austria. At the ceremony this morning Mrs. Louise Haufl was matron of honor, and Mr. Matt Spoh was best man.

The capital stock of the West Salem bank has been increased from $16,000 to $25,000.

The E. R. Barron company has made plans to remodel the second and third stories of the building in order to add 15,000 feet to its present floor space. A new elevator system will also be installed.

A cable has been received from Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Colman who sailed with a party from New York April 19, telling of their safe arrival at Southampton.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Surveyors of the Green Bay and Western railroad have completed a survey of the company's property in this city and the company will as soon as arrangements can be completed, build a new depot and round house on its property in the southern part of the city.

Yesterday the Schaghticoke Country Club was formally opened for the season. Mr. Newman will again be in charge of the culinary department.

Farmers coming to this city from the surrounding country in La Crosse county and eastern Minnesota yesterday declared that the snow storm which struck this vicinity a few nights ago did great damage to the plum trees and small fruits. Oats which were out of the ground were frost bitten and are turning black but it is believed the crop will recover.

A frost was predicted last night but did not materialize.

Mr. J. Stoddard was united in marriage to Miss Mary Sanders of St. Joseph's Ridge last evening.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Miss Katherine Blume left Saturday evening over the Burlington for Bremen, Germany.

A. A. Maurer returned from Chicago this morning. He says the World's Fair buildings will not be finished for six weeks yet. The only one completed is the Fisheries building.

Salvation By Calamity

By MARTHA-McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

"I think," Mrs. Clare said decisively, "something should be done about it."

"So do I; but who'd better do it?" Miss Lane, of uncertain age and temper, countered acidly: "Constable Mines would—"

"How do you know?"—from Mrs. Clare.

"Asked him—flat," Miss Lane sniffed. "He had the impudence to tell me, as a law officer, he was under bond not to do unlawful things."

"He'll be meeker—now we women vote," Mrs. Clare flung back with a toss of her head.

"I'm not so sure of that," Miss Lane said, sniffing again. "You have to pay poll tax before you can vote, and who's going to do that, with missions so expanding and expensive?"

"I do declare it seems to me the church ought to look into this," Mrs. Clare hedged.

"Said Miss Lane: "How could it—when the Mackin crowd don't belong anywhere?" After a breath she went on: "Not even to a club; and they can't be boycotted—raise nearly all they eat, and pay cash for all the balance."

"I wonder—couldn't the grand jury—can't it abate nuisances?" Mrs. Clare ruminated.

"I've thought of that, but Tom, my brother, says somebody must complain first—and swear to the complaint—so there you are."

"Goodness knows there's plenty to complain of if half we hear is true," Mrs. Clare sighed.

"True!" Of course it is trouble in proving it," from Miss Lane, militant.

"I know, by trying it. Looked through my field glass and saw those three girls in breeches—staked over to their fence—and behold, every one of 'em was snug in a bungalow apron—as trim as you please. They ride straddle, but so many town gals do that nobody minds it much. Same way with overalls, and caps when they're milking—only they needn't have 'em white—that's too conspicuous."

"Like the Sunday red jackets when the fellows come," Mrs. Clare chimed in. "That's what gets next to me the hardest—seeing grown-up men and women fighting foolish little white balls all up hill, down dale, over the pasture. 'Twould serve 'em right if the crows got after them and scared 'em into remembering the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

"I pray the Lord they get their come-uppance—somehow," Miss Lane said fervently. "I always put my trust in Him—when the constable is no use."

"And I say amen to that," Mrs. Clare added with a pious sigh.

The Mackins did not look the part of hardened criminals. Three sisters, slim and worn with teaching, a craftshop and a secretary's place, they had recklessly broken away to their grandmother's farm, albeit it was so run down, so ruinous from years of careless tenancy, the outlook for starving there was certainly promising.

Their savings were but modest, even when pooled, but their pluck was limitless, and their enthusiasm as great. Nothing is so invincible as ignorance. If they had known accurately what they were doing, the venture would never have been made. They had come, seen and spent in hope of a distant victory, never dreaming that their way and manner of life had so hard on the corns of their neighbors' prejudices—cherished, they told themselves, for conscience sake. They had met shy advances that had seemed to them rather intrusions, putting by adroitly questions as to church affiliations or predilections, and declining flatly to join any sort of society—even the missionary. Peg, youngest of them, had said audaciously to that invitation: "Oh, you see, we're self-sufficient, heathens our own selves—we're going to convert ourselves by living on the grass and looking up to heaven—when the sun shines."

An elder sister had been nearly as bad over a choir-suggestion. "The rest of the world is saddest when I sing," she had said. "And nobody has ever done me any harm," which might have passed for pleasant or modesty if she had not been heard chanting as she drove the rickety cultivator through the springing corn clear and sweet as a bird, but something from an opera. Very young Jennie had had a bird in her throat once—one of the sort that sing gold from the world's coffers. If Things had gone raggedly from the first—by mid-August they were hardly going at all. Drought had crisped the pastures, drying up milk and revenue, scorching the melons that had promised so fairly, blistering and scalding the orchard fruit, yet bringing to flourishing maturity armfuls of corn, flying and sucking in seeds. This just when Joe, Ben and Tommy, their special friends had come to spend vacations and lend willing hands to heavy repairs.

"If we feel them it will have to be on canned stuff," Kit said bitterly. Peg strangled a sob into a heavy sigh. Jennie's heart came to her throat—her brain felt as if it would burst. She had thought she knew the full bitterness of failure, but this was worse than that first time. She had been so happy, so hopeful, she knew there were two ways out—Joe would take her and her handmaiden with joy if permitted; Maurice would come to her rescue for her asking. But—she would ask nothing, take nothing while she could do even the least thing. Harvesting of village was a slip for her know the revivalist—the next day looked a solist—his sweet singer having eluded with a trombone artist. Of course it was folly—what she had in mind—but anything was better than drowning with a struggle.

Sunday the thousands cramming the shed tabernacle had the thrill of their lives after the opening prayer. A voice truly golden, clear, bell-toned, with yet a strain of melody that took gold from the world's coffers. If

IN MEMORIAM

 "Gone's dead, I shall not sit with him beside the glowing fire, And argue over all the things we used to fight about; The Bolsheviks in Russia, or the foreign trade of Tyre. The cause of socialism, or the simplest cure for gout. We disagreed so joyously, we battled with such vim On every subject in the world, each took his ground so stoutly. He never changed my views a bit, nor could I alter him. And who was right and who was wrong—well, now perhaps, he knows!"
 "Gone's dead, the stubborn, whimsical, undisciplined soul. Whose hair was grizzled with the years, but who, at heart, in truth kept all a youngster's coyness. The seasons took no toll Of that perennial exuberance which is the test of youth. I'll miss the clint of humor and of battle in his eyes. But maybe I shall see him when I leave this world of tears. And I shall find him arguing up there in paradise With Plato and with Socrates and others of his peers." (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.).

"I'm Buying a Home—

But now that you have the added responsibility of a home, it's not a question of can or can't—you must save. Remember taxes have a painfully regular way of coming due. So have fuel bills. So have insurance premiums. These expenses will be a lot easier to handle if you save for them in advance, in fact, in most cases you must do just that. Last but not least, a Savings Account here is a form of happiness insurance you must not do without.

20TH CENTURY CLUB HONORS GEN. ROBERT

Veteran Parliamentary Celebrates Birthday Today Which Clubs Celebrate

General Henry Martin Robert was the subject of discussion at the regular meeting of the Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. The senator's debate on the Shepard-Towner bill was given, and delegates elected to the district convention of the federated clubs at Baraboo in June.

Valued Life Told

Mrs. W. H. Sanders gave a sketch of General Robert's life, telling of his achievements as a military engineer before and during the civil war and of his great engineering responsibilities since then, as chief of engineers in the building of the harbor improvements from Pittsburgh to Galveston, and in Mexico. During the time he was engaged in active duty in charge of work on Lake Michigan, at Milwaukee, he wrote his "Rules of Order," his little book long known as a parliamentary law. This has had several editions, a new edition being just off the press. General Robert celebrates his 85th birthday May 2. Mrs. H. J. Bullock read a paper on the uses of parliamentary law and emphasized the necessity of order and dignity in a public assembly or club meeting.

Stage Senate Debate

A reproduction of the United States senate debate on the Shepard-Towner bill followed, with Mrs. J. E. Morgan taking the part of Senator Reed of Missouri, Mrs. A. W. Schall, of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Mrs. D. O. Coates, of Senator McCormack of Illinois, and Mrs. P. A. Douglas, of Senator Watson of Georgia.

The delegates elected to the annual convention of the seventh district of the Federated clubs of Wisconsin, which meets in Baraboo June 2 and 3, were: Mrs. J. A. L. Bradford, W. H. Sanders, C. L. Lien, D. L. Coates, Lyle Clarke, and the alternates, Mrs. H. J. Bullock and Mrs. C. J. Rice.

Household Suggestions

OLD STRAW HAT
If your hat looks back-stayed but still has a good shape, place a piece of butter on the inside of the crown and rub the hat. When the butter has been on a half an hour or so, rub dry and polish with a piece of dry velvet.

CARPET BEATING

If you will beat your carpets and rugs on a set of hot springs they will look like new when you finish.

TO CLEAN WALLS

There is an excellent cleaner for painted walls. Dissolve two ounces of borax in two quarts of water, add a teaspoon of ammonia and use about half of this amount to each yard of wall. You will need no soap.

GREEN PEAS

Boil your green peas in much water and salt and when done place in cold water. This will cause them to retain their green color.

COOKING CABBAGE

Before cooking cabbage or cauliflower, place them for a while in a bowl of cold water with a generous helping of salt.

USE OF ONIONS

Onions should never be in water or be wet before being used.

MEDIUM BROWN HAIR

Look like all after a Golden Glow Shampoo. Adv.

SUMMER VELVET

The velvet hat is made of a fine fabric of silk or wool. Some times sold there is one woven into a crepe fabric to give it the decorative look. Velvet hats are also fashionable.

I Drink It Too GONA COFFEE

FASHIONABLE SLEEVES
The popular cuff which have been effectively used on this season's sleeve are multiplying and frequently are seen four or five where one used to be. Indications are that sleeves for fall are to be extremely elaborate.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Multi-Medicated Shampoo

Multi-Medicated Shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Take one or three teaspoonsful of Multi-Medicated Shampoo, mix with a little warm water, is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Multi-Medicated Shampoo into the scalp and hair.

Multi-Medicated Shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

You can get Multi-Medicated Shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap and a few ounces will supply you for a month or more. Be sure your druggist knows you Multi-Medicated.

BRITISH PLAN BIG NAVY BASE IN EAST; OPPOSITION FAILS

Singapore Fortifications Challenged as Aimed at Either United States or Japan

LONDON.—The government had an easy parliamentary victory Tuesday night when a motion to reduce the naval vote, as a protest against the expenditure of $20,000,000 on a big naval base at Singapore, was defeated in the house of commons by 253 to 94.

George Lambert, a civil lord of the admiralty from 1905 to 1915, maintained that the Singapore scheme was "floating the league of nations," that it was wrong to scatter, instead of concentrate the fleet, and that the new base would be a hostage to any possible enemy. He asked whether the scheme was not an attempt to go behind the Washington treaty, which forbade developments at Hongkong, but did not forbid them at Singapore.

The labor members strongly denounced the scheme, arguing that it must be directed either against America or Japan.

Criswell Amery told the house of commons that "command of all the seas" is the British objective.

"We do not propose," such command," he explained, "to self-respecting power can afford indefinitely to be dependent on another power for its security and even its existence."

CHILD VICTIMS OF AUTO ACCIDENTS SEE 'EM JAILED

DETROIT, Mich.—Seated on window sills, the judge's bench and in the jury box, thirteen small children, victims of traffic accidents, saw Judge Charles L. Bartlett in Record court impose sentences for speeding and reckless driving. The children, some wearing bandages, other carrying crutches, were brought into court by direction of Judge Bartlett for the 180 persons accused of traffic violations to gaze upon. Twenty-eight persons were given jail sentences as well as fined. Among them was Miss Juliette Henkel, winner of a recent beauty contest. She was sentenced to jail for two days and fined $25.

HUNGARY ASKS FOR RELEASE TO FLOAT A RECOVERY LOAN

It will be impossible for Hungary to recover and pay her debts unless she is permitted to float a loan, and this cannot be done without guarantees, Count Bethlen, the Hungarian premier, told Premier Poincare at a conference. He asked that the allies release temporarily their reparations claims.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

BURLINGTON ROUTE PLANS A HUGE COAL DUMP IN LA CROSSE

More than 65,000 Tons of Coal to be Stored at Grand Crossing this Summer

More than 150,000 tons of coal will be hauled by the Burlington Route this coming summer and stored at various points along the La Crosse division, according to a report made by C. J. Steer of the division superintendent's office. The work has already been started, and about 15,000 tons are now on the ground at Grand Crossing. In all about 65,000 tons will be stored here. The rest will be divided between Savannah and Dayton's Bluff.

The coal to be stored along this division is a part of a half-million tons which the road has purchased from mines along its lines. The coal is being moved now, to release cars next winter for commercial purposes, which would otherwise be needed to protect the Burlington coal pile. Mining the coal now also provides employment for the miners during the slack season.

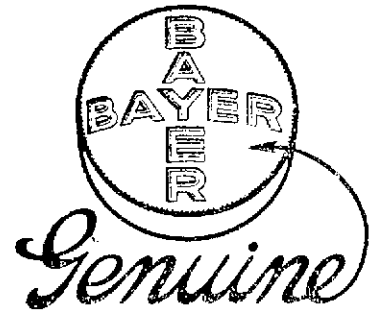

The Burlington hopes by following out the plan which they have started, to aid materially in the solution of the coal problem.

the world seem some hideous bedlam. It is a stampede of the most easily frightened animal of all and yet the most ponderous, who knows only to rush and crush its frenzy. The natives take to the trees. Sid keeps grinding his camera until it is almost knocked over in the rush and on and on they go in a powerful phalanx which means sure death. Then suddenly they swove in the wild stampede and tear through the brush leaving a waste behind which reminds you of a tornado. It is the greatest scene ever recorded of a reality by the camera.

COUNTRY CLUB AT SPARTA PREPARES FOR ACTIVE SEASON

Clubhouse Being Renovated and Green Put in Condition for Golfers

SPARTA, Wis.—Many improvements are being made at the golf grounds, in preparation for the season's activities at the Country club. The front fence is being freshly painted and the arch over the driveway. Mowing, grading and seeding are being done, and the grove on the property is being cleared. The screens on the building are to be painted and new benches are to be built. The work is under the supervision of the caretaker, W. J. Schmitz. The golf grounds will be opened the latter part of this month.

The first tourists of the season camped on the Sparta Tourists' Camp grounds, but the campers who were there Monday night, were the first ones to stay all night.

Rufus Caskey, one of the familiar figures in the industrial and home life of Sparta, died at his home, Sunday afternoon, after a long and painful illness.

Mr. Caskey was born in Port Jarvis, N. Y., in 1856. His father died when he was six years old, and his mother brought the lad and came west. He resided with an uncle until he was fifteen years old, when he turned to his first employment in the east, and learned the blacksmith trade. After a few years he came back and established himself in Leon, in 1880, he was united in marriage to Miss Lucia E. Gould of Leon. Rev. Joseph C. Caldwell officiating. His wife died in 1901, and he then sold his business in Leon and spent some time visiting relatives. Returning here, he was employed for several years at the Sparta Iron Works, and then opened a smithy, with Mr. Fred Siekert, in the Jackson building on Main street. About three years ago, he retired from active work.

In 1910, Mr. Caskey married Mrs. Mae Riley at Austin, Minn., who survives him. Mr. Caskey had been a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge for many years and this organization attended the funeral services in a body—the service being held at his late home, Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. E. E. North, pastor of the M. E. church. Interment was in Mount Hope cemetery.

TAKE FAMILY TO SEE THIS AT ALL COSTS

Universal's "Hunting Big Game in Africa" is coming to the Majestic theater next Sunday and it is absolutely fascinating from the opening shots of over a million penguins filling into the ocean, and while hunters shooting harpoons into huge whales, to the close-up of a giant African elephant charging into the camera, which makes you want to get up out of your seat and hunt for a tree.

By all means see this picture and take the children. For if you don't they'll never forgive you if they ever find out about this show.

There is action in every fact of the picture. A wealth of material has enabled Mr. Snow to be more than generous and when you are not marvelling at the astonishing animal shots you sit entranced by the picture. A wealth of material out of Africa.

Love, romance and thrills combine to make it as fascinating and as exciting as a motion picture can be. Much credit, of course, must go to the splendid support of an unusually fine cast.

Jack Mulhall gives a fine performance as Dick Gilder and Lew Colly makes an admirable Joe Garson. Eileen Percy has a strong part as Aggie Larch, a blackmailer befriended by Mary in prison. Dewitt Jennings distinguishes himself as Inspector Burke. "Within the Law" will remain at the Rivoli Theater all this week.

Hood a sort of Robin Goodfellow, a very Puck, so that one got the odd persuasion at times at the unravelling of his latest picture, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood" at the Majestic theater this week that Shakespeare must have written it—or at least would have liked to. Perhaps long despaired of making the old legend seem like anything but a fairy tale for all that he has woven out of it a very creditable yarn of the days when knights were bold, when ladies were lovely and never thought of rolling their own or rolling 'em down, when every one would fight at the drop of a hat or a handkerchief. At any rate, the blithe, smiling star seems to have decided 'twere best, oddsbodkins, to keep the air of fantasy, and so when he chuckles off his earlier guise as the Earl of Huntingdon and becomes the rollicking bandit, Doug no longer walks or runs—he just sails through the air.

A journey of 35,000 miles is to be undertaken to film Nigeria and the gold coast for the British Empire exhibition.

BLAINE OPPONENTS WONDER WHERE HE CLAIMS HIS VOTES

Assert on Final Roll Call He Will Get But 12 Senators for His Tax Bill

MADISON, Wis.—By the Associated Press.—While Governor Blaine is claiming victory for his tax bill in the upper house of the legislature, opponents of this important revenue measure are wondering upon what he bases his assurance.

Opposition senators are able to find only 17 voted for the measure. Out of this number, five are almost certain, they say, to vote against the bill when the roll is finally called. This would give the governor only 12 votes out of 33.

Governor Blaine, confident that the bill will go through the upper house, has taken little interest in plans for a conference of progressive republicans on Saturday to line up support for the tax measure. He believes that he will be able to get enough backing himself to assure passage.

During the week that remains before the bill is reached on the calendar next Wednesday, it is thought by members that Governor Blaine will start calling senators to his office. This plan has been followed in the assembly on several occasions with success.

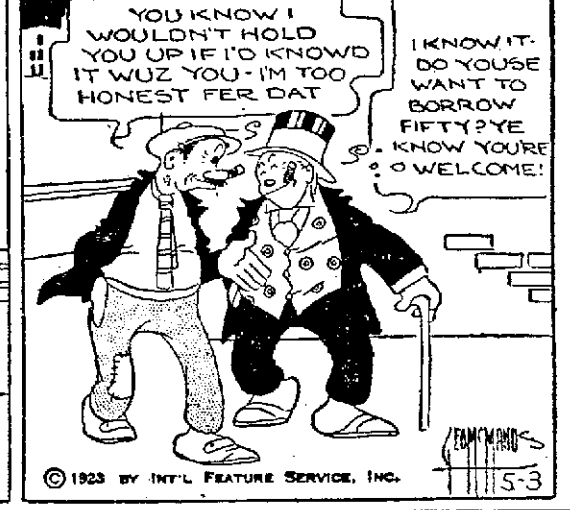

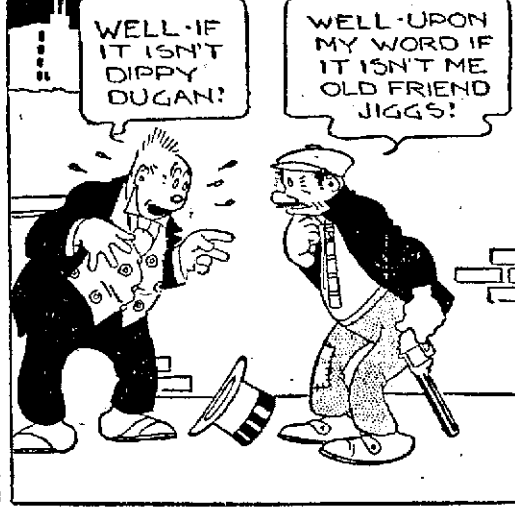

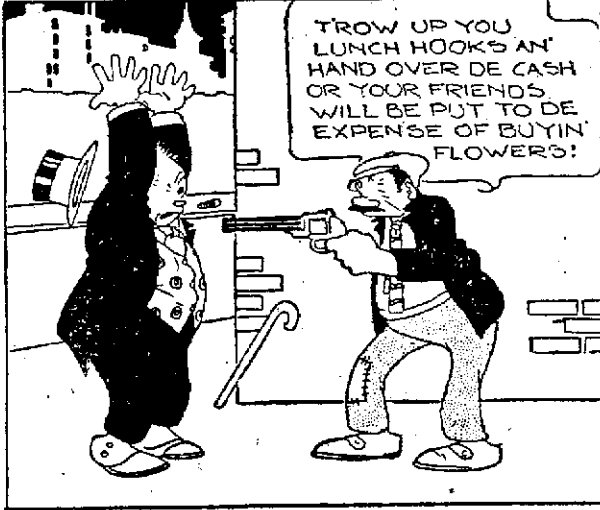

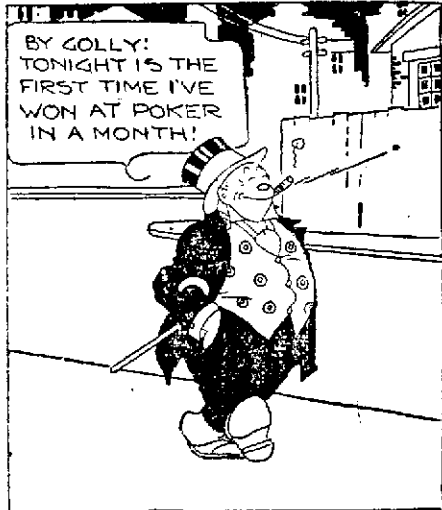

So long as the three socialist members maintain their opposition to the governor's bill, its passage is considered extremely doubtful by the upper house leaders. The socialists and at least three progressives assert that they are unalterably opposed to the bill, making it necessary for the governor to enlist support from the conservative republicans if he passes his proposal.

SECOND RED FOUND GUILTY; FOSTER TO BE TRIED AGAIN

Conviction of Ruthenberg Means
Re-trial for One Who Escaped by Disagreement

ST. JOSEPH, Mich.—By the Associated Press.—Charles E. Ruthenberg of Cleveland, Ohio, is the first person to be found guilty of violating Michigan's syndicalism law. He was convicted by a jury Wednesday night after four hours and fifty minutes, on the third ballot. Ruthenberg was the second of the thirty-six alleged communists to face trial as a result of the raid on the communist party convention at Bridgman, Mich., last August.

William Z. Foster of Chicago, the first, escaped by a jury disagreement. Sentence will be pronounced on June 4th. Judge Charles White announced, giving Ruthenberg time to prepare an appeal. His conviction, attorneys said, virtually assures a retrial for Foster.

CALEDONIA MAN PAYS A FINE FOR DYNAMITING FISH

CALEDONIA.—William Knust was fined $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Justice Kenney on a charge of dynamiting fish in South Fork creek, three miles from this town. His brother, Frank, charged jointly with the offense, pleaded not guilty and his case was set for trial next Tuesday.

A considerable quantity of fish are said to have been destroyed at several points along the creek. Suspicion was directed to the brothers, authorities said, when it was learned that one of them had purchased dynamite at a Caledonia hardware store, and was later said to be in possession of a quantity of fish.

Paper wrappers in which the dynamite had been contained were traced to the store where the purchase was made.

The arrest was made by the town marshal.
